Course Description

This class focuses on the process of developing fundable ideas, building broad-based support, conducting the research required to identify appropriate funders for projects or programs across a wide variety of disciplines and sectors, and writing grant proposals to fund initiatives.

Learning Outcomes

Upon successful completion of this course, students will:

- Understand the fundamentals of grant proposal writing; and
- Have developed a draft proposal for funded activities.

Teaching Philosophy

I subscribe to three models of learning that guide my classroom instruction:

- Constructivism (Duffy and Jonassen, 1992) posits that people construct their own understanding and knowledge of the world by experiencing things and reflecting on those experiences. New knowledge builds upon our previous ideas and experience. Ideally, learning happens in collaboration with others.
- Experiential learning (Kolb, 1984) supports students in applying the knowledge and conceptual understanding gained in the classroom to real-world problems or situations. Experience (including mistakes) provides the basis for the learning activities. Adults are most interested in learning that has immediate relevance and impact to their career or personal life, and their learning is problem-centered rather than content-oriented.

- Relational-cultural theory (Miller, 1976) proposes that successful relational connections—interactions that are mutually empathic and mutually empowering—are vital to individual and shared learning, as well as emotional growth and health (Miller & Stiver, 1997). RCT’s key tenets are trust, mutual empathy, and growth-in-connection, which is essentially the enhanced ability to learn and progress through healthy, growth-fostering relationships.

Grading

This class is offered on a pass/no pass basis only. Your grade will be determined based on the following:

- Attend both class sessions — if you miss a class session, you will not receive a passing grade; and
- Completion of all assignments.

Course Website

The course website is located on the University of Oregon’s Canvas system (<https://canvas.uoregon.edu>). The class syllabus, supplemental readings, and other materials will be posted on the Canvas site. Please check the course website frequently for updates. In addition, make sure that the University registrar has your correct email address, as I will use this email address to communicate with you.

Accessibility

The University of Oregon is working to create inclusive learning environments. Please notify me if there are aspects of the instruction or design of this course that result in disability-related barriers to your participation. You are also encouraged to contact the Accessible Education Center (formerly Disability Services) in 164 Oregon Hall at 541.346.1155 or uoaec@uoregon.edu.

Diversity

The University of Oregon values our diversity and seeks to foster equity and inclusion in a welcoming, safe, and respectful community. This course is committed to upholding this principle by encouraging the exploration, engagement, and expression of different perspectives and diverse identities. I will value each class member’s experiences and contributions, and communicate disagreements respectfully. Please notify me if you feel aspects of the course undermine these principles. For additional resources, you are also encouraged to contact the following campus services:

- Division of Equity and Inclusion: 1 Johnson Hall or 541.346.3175 or <http://inclusion.uoregon.edu/>

- Center on Diversity and Community: 54 Susan Campbell Hall or 541.346.3212 or <http://codac.uoregon.edu/>
- Bias Response Team: 164 Oregon Hall or brt@uoregon.edu or <http://bias.uoregon.edu>

Statement Regarding Title IX and a Safe Learning Environment free from Discrimination and Harassment

The UO is committed to providing an environment free of all forms of discrimination, harassment, and assault. This includes conduct that unreasonably discriminates among individuals on the basis of race, color, gender, national origin, ethnicity, age, religion, marital status, disability, veteran status, sexual orientation, gender identity, or gender expression. It also includes sexual and physical assault, domestic and dating violence, and gender based stalking. We support Title IX.

If you, or someone you know, has experienced or experiences harassment or discrimination that is sufficiently severe or pervasive that it interferes with work or academic performance—or if you have experienced sexual or physical assault in any form—the UO has staff members trained to support and make sure you are aware of the range of options available to you and have access to the resources you need. You may choose whether or not to access these resources.

Students wishing to pursue a complaint involving discrimination or harassment should contact the Office of Affirmative Action & Equal Opportunity at 541.346.3123 or <http://aaeo.uoregon.edu>. If you wish to speak to someone confidentially regarding sexual assault or harassment, call 541.346.SAFE, UO's 24-hour hotline, or visit the SAFE website, <http://safe.uoregon.edu>. The University Health Center and University Counseling and Testing Center can provide assistance and work confidentially with students.

Inclusion Statement

The College of Design is a community that values inclusion. We are committed to equal opportunities for all faculty, staff and students to develop individually, professionally, and academically regardless of ethnicity, heritage, gender, sexual orientation, ability, socio-economic standing, cultural beliefs and traditions. We are dedicated to an environment that is inclusive and fosters awareness, understanding, and respect for diversity. If you feel excluded or threatened, please contact your instructor and/or school head.

Center for Multicultural Academic Excellence

The CMAE is a place where students are empowered, engaged, and nurtured for success. Their vision is to build and empower an inclusive and diverse community of scholars who exemplify academic excellence and inspire positive change. CMAE's mission is to promote student retention and persistence for historically underrepresented and underserved populations. They develop and implement programs and services that support retention, academic excellence, and success at the UO and beyond. Call 541.346.3479, email cmae@uoregon.edu, or visit Suites 164 and 165 in Oregon Hall.

Mental Health

As a student, you may experience a range of issues that can cause barriers to learning, such as strained relationships, increased anxiety, alcohol/drug problems, feeling down, difficulty concentrating and/or lack of motivation. These mental health concerns or stressful events may impact your academic performance or reduce your ability to participate in daily activities. The University of Oregon is committed to advancing the mental health and well-being of its students. If you or someone you know is feeling overwhelmed, depressed, and/or in need of support, services are available. You can learn more about the broad range of confidential mental health services available on campus via <https://health.uoregon.edu/mental-health> or by calling 541.346.2770.

Life's Challenges

Any student who has difficulty affording groceries or accessing sufficient food to eat every day, or who lacks a safe and stable place to live, and believes this may affect their performance in school, is urged to contact the Dean of Students for support. Furthermore, please let me know as well if you are comfortable in doing so. This will enable me to provide any resources that I have access to. I care about you as an individual and your health and well-being beyond your role as a student in this class.

Late Assignment Policy

If you are unable to make it to class on the day an assignment is due, you may email your assignment to me prior to the class time and date that assignment is due. Late assignments receive only partial credit. If an answer key is posted to the website, however, no late homework assignments are accepted (no credit).

Incomplete Policy

Students are expected to behave in a professional manner and to turn in all materials at the designated time. In accordance with university regulations, an incomplete will only be given when “the quality of work is satisfactory but a minor yet essential requirement of the course has not been completed for reasons acceptable to the instructor.”

Academic Misconduct

You are expected at all times to do your own work. Copying content from other students and submitting it as your own work is grounds for failing the class. The University Student Conduct Code (available at <http://conduct.uoregon.edu>) defines academic misconduct. Students are prohibited from committing or attempting to commit any act that constitutes academic misconduct. By way of example, students should not give or receive (or attempt to give or receive) unauthorized help on assignments or examinations without express permission from the instructor.

Plagiarism

Students should properly acknowledge and document all sources of information (e.g. quotations, paraphrases, ideas) and use only the sources and resources authorized by the instructor. If there is any question about whether an act constitutes academic misconduct, it is the students' obligation to clarify the question with the instructor before committing or attempting to commit the act. For additional information about a common form of academic misconduct, plagiarism, visit: <http://libweb.uoregon.edu/guides/plagiarism/students>.

Final Assignment

Develop and submit a draft proposal by completing the following steps:

- a. Identify a fundable topic, based on a need or a problem you've identified
- b. Identify a potential funder
- c. Obtain the funder's program description and application forms – either printed, or via an online form
- d. Develop a draft proposal that meets the funder's requirements. The proposal may include (depending on the funder):
 1. Problem statement
 2. Research design / work plan
 3. Time line
 4. Budget
 5. Project personnel
- e. You can skip all the supporting documents (e.g., 501(c)3 nonprofit determination letter, organizational budget, board of directors, etc.)

GRADUATE STUDENTS ONLY: In 1-2 pages, describe how funding for the project described above fits with your larger educational / professional goals.

Submit your proposal, the funder's guidelines and your graduate paper (if applicable) to my mailbox in PPPM (Hendricks Hall, ground floor) or via email attachment.

Your materials are due by Friday, December 6, 2019, the last day of classes for the ten-week term.
